

A PERFECT FRIGHT FROM PIMPLES

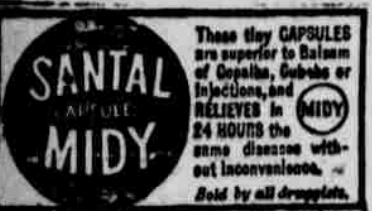

Itched and Burned. Three Cakes Cuticura Soap and Three Boxes Ointment Heal.

"My face and neck became covered with small pimples not much larger than the point of a pin at first, but later they became larger and more inflamed. They were hard and red, and came to a head, and itched and burned so I could hardly sleep, and my face was a perfect fright."

"Then I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Myrtle M. Johnson, Boyds, Md., August 3, 1917.

SOUTHERN STATES SWEEP BY STORM; TWENTY DEAD

Alabama Town Wrecked—Tornado Strikes Macon, Ga. Blizzard at Memphis Forces Suspension Street Cars. Trains Belated and Miles of Wires Torn Down.

Twenty persons are believed to have lost their lives and a score or more were injured and much property damage was reported in Alabama from the storm sweeping eastward in the southern states. Seven persons were reported to have been killed and twenty-five injured at Cowarts, Ala., in a windstorm, which, according to meagre advice, virtually wrecked that town late yesterday. One man is reported to have been killed and much damage to property done by a tornado which struck Camp Wheeler and the state fair ground near Macon, Ga. All wires to Camp Wheeler are down, and the only information available at a late hour last night of the damage there was word brought by a messenger to Macon. Wire communication with the storm-swept section of Alabama also was cut off and verification of loss of life could not be secured. Four persons lost their lives in Texas and many thousands of dollars damage was done to truck gardens and orchards.

Schools Dismissed. Record low temperatures and the heaviest in years marked the disturbance west of the Mississippi river, where the blizzard was at its height yesterday. At Mission, Tex., in the Rio Grande snow fell for the first time in forty years, and in north Texas the snowfall measured six inches, with temperatures ranging from 8 degrees below zero to a few degrees above in the eastern part of the state. Oklahoma City reported the heaviest fall of snow in fifteen years and the lowest temperature in eight years. Eight inches of snow fell at Little Rock, Ark., and at Memphis, Tenn., the blizzard reached such proportions as to cause street car service to be suspended on a number of lines, dismissal of schools and brought street traffic virtually to a standstill.

Leaves Zero Temperatures. The storm, leaving near-zero temperatures in its wake in the central southern states, was expected to sweep across the South Atlantic states to the coast today. Telephone and telegraph companies reported miles of wires torn down by the storm, railroad schedules were generally disarranged, with trains arriving hours late, and in some sections much suffering was reported as a result of fuel shortages.

WORST EXPERIENCE IN PLAINS STATES

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—The entire plains states area from the Mississippi river to the Rocky mountains and from the Dakotas to the Rio Grande river is experiencing the most severe weather of the winter following a blizzard that ended this morning after piling huge drifts of snow.

Both wire and train communications were greatly hampered by the storm, but scattering reports received at the local weather office at 7 o'clock last night indicated that the trough of the cold wave was over this country and surrounding territory last night. The mercury stood at 14 degrees below zero here at that time with a minimum of 15 to 18 degrees below forecast for this morning. At Springfield, Mo., it was 14 below; at Des Moines, Iowa, 16 below, and at Charles City, Iowa, 20 below. Points around these cities reported slight higher temperatures, but the below-zero weather reached as far south as Oklahoma City, Okla., and Fort Smith, Ark., both of which places reported two below.

Kansas has been warned to expect 20 below zero temperatures. The heavy snow, badly drifted, was interfering with rail and wagon traffic. At Missouri Pacific passenger train stalled in a drift, eight miles west of Anthony, Kans., Thursday night, was not released and cannot be before Saturday, but the eighteen passengers are being provided for and are not suffering. Anthony has had no mail for two days, and drifts of snow twenty feet deep are reported there. The fuel situation is acute in Kansas towns.

Although the wheat growers of the state welcomed the snow which broke the drought, many fields were said to have been blown bare, while in the western section of the state live stock is suffering severely from the cold.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION IN GEORGIA AND ALABAMA

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 12.—Eight persons are known to have been killed, probably two scores others injured and much property damage done by a series of tornadoes that swept over northeastern Alabama and south central Georgia late yesterday. The storm swept eastward and struck Camp Wheeler and Macon, Ga., where considerable damage was done. One man, a private, named Harris, of Atlanta, was reported to have been killed at Camp Wheeler by the collapse of a corral. No deaths were reported in Macon proper, but several persons were injured.

At Cowarts, Ala., six miles east of Dothan, seven persons were reported to have lost their lives and twenty-five or more others injured. The town was reported completely destroyed. A number of tents were destroyed at Camp Wheeler, but water, following the winds, was reported to have caused the greatest damage.

Wire communication with practically all points in the south Atlantic coast region was interrupted. Connection with Savannah was established for a short period early in the evening and high winds were reported there. A sharp drop in temperature followed close upon the heels of the tornadoes and all day rains throughout practically all of the South Atlantic station. With a sectionwide cold shortage conditions presented a gloomy aspect to many persons without fuel supplies. In Atlanta the drop was marked, with the temperature falling approximately 15 degrees in one hour within the early part of last night. Despite the measures of the federal administration and civic bodies to provide coal for the citizens of Atlanta, numbers of persons went from one coal yard to another yesterday armed with the fuel administration priority orders in search of fuel. But their efforts largely were in vain. One man presented his order to one of the leading coal dealers with the plea that he had two sick babies at home and was completely out of fuel of any sort, only to be informed that no deliveries were being made because the wagon drivers had refused to work in the rain. The applicant had already appealed to five other coal yards, he said. Many others were reported in a similar predicament.

EIGHT REPORTED KILLED AT COWARTS AND TROY

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 12.—Wind and rainstorm which swept over Alabama cost eight lives, according to meager reports received here last night. Seven were reported killed at Cowarts and one death was reported from Troy. Both towns are in southeastern Alabama. Houses were unroofed in many towns but no further casualties are reported.

The storm passed between Birmingham and Montgomery and in all towns wires are down and no reports have been received. Montgomery was practically in darkness last night, trunk feed wires from the power plants being down. The temperature dropped 19 degrees in forty-five minutes and 41 degrees in six hours. At 10 o'clock the thermometer showed 20 above zero and the forecast was for 10 above by morning. A slight snow fell last night. At 2:30 yesterday the barometer dropped to 29.09 inches, these figures being within one one-hundredth of an inch of the lowest ever recorded here. Considerable suffering will result as the coal supply is completely exhausted.

Telephone, telegraph and light wires are down all over the city. At Camp Sheridan no damage was done beyond the blowing down of a number of tents. Three and a half inches of rain fell and much discomfort was caused the soldiers.

SIX KILLED AND FORTY INJURED AT DOTHAN

Dothan, Ala., Jan. 12.—Six children were killed and forty others were more or less seriously injured, many probably fatally, when a schoolhouse two miles east of here was struck by the storm that passed over Alabama Friday night.

At Webb, Ala., a railroad town ten miles northeast of here, one man was instantly killed when his store was blown down, and over seventy others were injured, many of them seriously. A number of small settlements and villages near Dothan were partially destroyed. It is believed that the death list in this neighborhood will reach ten or twelve, as the reports so far are very meagre, due to the cutting off of communication. At Webb practically every house was blown away yesterday Friday night a search for the bodies of missing persons is being made. It is feared that the death list will be heavy in the country surrounding this town. A call for aid was sent to Dothan, and every available physician was rushed to the scene in automobiles. Many of the homeless people have been brought to this city and furnished shelter. In Dothan proper comparatively little damage was done. One child was blown over three hundred yards, but escaped with slight bruises. All telephone wires in the path of the storm are down, and the only news of the extent of the damage is being brought in by those whose homes were destroyed and who are coming into Dothan in search of assistance.

PROPERTY DAMAGE AT CAMP WHEELER SERIOUS

Macon, Ga., Jan. 12.—A tornado, followed by a torrential rain, swept down upon Macon and vicinity late Friday, killing one man and injuring several others and doing serious property damage in the city and at Camp Wheeler near here. All communication with the camp was cut off shortly after the storm broke, but telephone communication re-established yesterday revealed that the greatest damage done there was from the rain, which had flooded many of the hospital tents, sixteen of which were blown down. It was estimated that 150 patients were in the tents, but early reports from the camp said there were no injuries. The collapse of the corral of the One Hundred and Twenty-second Infantry caused the only death, that of Private Harris, of Atlanta. After the tornado passed over the camp its course turned in the direction of the city. It hurled four freight cars on the Macon, Dublin & Savannah railroad, on a siding near the camp, from the tracks and passed over the central city park, wrecking the race track baseball grandstands and demolishing a building in which were quartered wild animals belonging to a circus. Some of the beasts were crushed under the debris while others escaped, but were captured by showmen. A kangaroo, however, was still at large last night. In the city proper the roofs of the Central of Georgia and Southern railway freight depots were blown off. Several stores in the wholesale district also were damaged. Among the injured who were taken to the city hospital last night was William Hallmark, of Watts, Okla., and M. S. Dunbar, a switchman. Fires broke out in several sections of the city during the storm, but they were quickly extinguished. Railroad traffic was impeded and wire communication with outside points was virtually paralyzed last night.

HAD THE GRIP THREE WEEKS. With January comes lagrippe. Lingering colds seem to settle in the system, causing one to ache all over, feel feverish and chilly, tired, heavy and drooping. Mrs. Lizzy Tyles, Henderson, Ky., writes: "My daughter had lagrippe for three weeks. I had the doctor and bought medicine and none of it did any good. I gave her Foley's Honey and Tar and now she is all right. I have told all my friends about it." Insist on the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar. Jo Anderson, Drugist, Chattanooga, Tenn.—(Adv.)
